Chapter 1 by Ella

Have you ever found a place that feels like your own corner of the world?

I am challenging you to write about that place.

Feel free to research these locations, and perhaps visit them yourself

Do you accept my challenge?

Or not

We'll find out

Location: Mouth of the Huron, Michigan

This is a place in upper Michigan where you are able to camp on the beach, barely 6 feet from lake Erie. It is a few miles away from the nearest city. It is all sand, and you are surrounded by tall pines. If you walk a bit down the beach, you come upon the Mouth of the Huron river, hence the name, "Mouth of the Huron"

The sun shines down upon the sand, and the sound of waves bounding upon the shore. A light breeze blows through the branches of the beautiful pines, and the streaks of sunlight that peak through the branches. The sound of waves bounding upon the shore. A light breeze blows through the branches of the beautiful pines, and the streaks of sunlight that peak through the branches. The sound of waves bounding upon the shore. A light breeze blows through the branches of the beautiful pines, and the streaks of sunlight that peak through the branches.

hammok hugs you, and cover you. In the distance the sun begins to set. You gaze at it until there is just a sliver left in the sky. As the last bit of light disappears, you slowly doze off, with a smile spread across your lips.

Chapter 2 by MockingjayGirl

The beautiful, cool, breezy forest. I feel at home singing softly to myself up high in a tree. I sometimes sing songs from books like [ Deep in the meadow ] from The hunger games.

I lye in the trees listening to birds sing and whistle the tunes back. I wait for a reply and I always get one. Sometimes I close my eyes and think of the days ahead. But most of all I sing softly and listen.....
